Children's Liturgy
Resumes September 12

Jesus said, "Let the children come to me."

(Mark 10:13)

And so, Children's Liturgy will resume at the 9:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. Masses starting September 12. Children ages 6-11, from first through sixth grade, will be invited to a separate celebration of the Liturgy of the Word to hear the scriptures in language they can easily understand and respond to. The scriptural readings are the same ones the parents hear in church. We sing great songs and talk with the children about what they heard in the scriptures that day.

Children do not need to be signed up to attend. Please remind your child to use the restroom before church starts and to remember where you are seated in the church. Your child will return to you before the Liturgy of the Eucharist. Teen and adult volunteers are needed. If you would like to join this exciting ministry, you can attend our meeting this Sunday, September 5 from 10 a.m.-12:00 noon in the St Clare Room, or call Brenda Scott at 772-0545 for more information.

Commentary on the Readings for Sunday, September 12

The 24th Sunday in Ordinary Time

The theme of the Readings for the 24th Sunday in Ordinary Time centers around God's mercy and forgiveness, but there are other aspects of God's love involved in these readings as well. It would be helpful to read all of them carefully and then come back to see some of the less obvious points.

In the First Reading, from the Book of Exodus (32:7-14), God is angry with His people because they wanted to worship something they could see, touch and feel, not God Himself who gave them life, freedom and direction. God had a right to be angry because He just delivered them from slavery in Egypt, but notice how Moses "talks" God out of the wrath He intended True, those who were involved in this idolatry were punished, but the others were saved. In all the stories of the Old Testament where people grossly disobey God, He punishes them; but there is always an act of kindness and love following. For example, the Cain and Abel story, the Noah and the Ark story. Punishment is not always a sign of total loss of love and friendship, but rather, as a mother or father punishes a child for disobedience, it can be, and often is, a sign of "tough love."

In the Responsorial Psalm (51:3-19), the Psalmist prays for and receives mercy in this, the great "Miserere." It is a beautiful Psalm that we should all be familiar with and use as our own Act of Contrition; but remember, a true act of contrition requires a sincere promise to sin no more. This Psalm is modeled after King David's remorse when confronted by Nathan, the priest; however, David asked God for forgiveness in spite of his great sin. He became a great leader and servant of God. So we can learn from this that even though our sins are great, God can and will forgive if we are truly sorry and strive to keep from sinning again.

In the Second Reading from St Paul's Letter to Timothy (1:12-17), Paul gives us an informal statement of beliefs—a "creed" and herein lies the essence of all the readings. See if you can find it before reading this commentary any further. Paul was as great a sinner as King David, but God forgave him and look what he accomplished. We should all see ourselves in this light.

The Gospel Reading is taken from the Gospel of Luke (15:1-32). In this long Gospel Reading we have three familiar stories: Luke's version of The Good Shepherd, The Lost Coin and finally The Prodigal Son or, as I would prefer to call it, The Forgiving Father story. Each of these has its own meaning and purpose, but our theme is best illustrated in the last story of The Prodigal Son. Put yourself in the father's place: both sons were wrong. One showed it by foolish ways of living. The other was outwardly obedient, but resented every minute of it. Did the father get angry at either? He did not bar the younger son from the door, but ran to meet him and welcome him home. He did not rebuke the elder son, rather he gave him reassurance and comfort. This required the divine gift of patience, one of the most difficult aspects or components of Love.

Now, putting them all together, I hope that you can see not only God's mercy, but also His patience in waiting and watching until we are ready to open the door of our heart and let God in (See Revelation 3:20). Now, after reading all of the above, are YOU willing to turn, or return, to the Father and, with contrite heart, say, "Father, I have sinned?" Something to think about during your Prayer Time this week!

If you have comments or questions regarding the above, please direct them to the parish office. We will respond as quickly as possible. MFB

The Mass Stands at the Center of our Faith

The Mass is central to our faith and as such we should treat it with great respect. It is here that we most encounter our Lord and Savior. At the Mass He is present in His gathered faithful, the Body of Christ, as He is present in His ministers and in the Word. He is especially present in the Eucharist, the real presence, the Body and Blood of Christ. It is here that we come to God to be forgiven, taught, fed, renewed, strengthened, and to become ever more faithful. Here we are saved and given everlasting life. Here we encounter God who became flesh and allow Him to form us into something greater than what we are.

The Mass is a very special gift. We should all remember that it is possible only because of the sacrifice and resurrection of Jesus Christ. The Mass is not just worship of our God but is a celebration of what God has done for us. It is a time when we gather together as God's chosen people to allow Him to guide us in our lives and to receive the gift of His salvation. During the Eucharist we do not remember something that happened 2,000 years ago. We make that moment present in our time, in our community!

Through the Holy Spirit, called upon by the priest, the gifts we offer of bread and wine are changed to the one gift of the Body and Blood of Jesus Christ. Heaven and earth come together. We are with Jesus at the Last Supper, we are in the presence of Jesus on the cross and we are witnesses to His Resurrection. It is the Lord who is offering us His Body and Blood in what once was bread and wine. Their accidental characteristics remain unchanged in that they still look, feel and taste like bread and wine, but the reality of the gift we receive is that it is now the Body and Blood, the Sacrifice and Promise of Jesus Christ.

Jesus affirms this as the priest speaks in His place, "Take this and eat, this is my body. Take this and drink. This is my blood." At communion we receive the gift of Jesus Christ to have it become part of who we are. Jesus feeds us and quenches our thirst for the divine, not so that we may be satisfied with ourselves but so that we may take Him with us out into the world. The Mass is the center of our faith but the faith is lived out in our daily lives. We live the Mass at work, in school, at home and at play. We do so by being witnesses to Christ, not just in our words but in our actions and in who we are.

We will be discussing the various parts of the Mass in upcoming bulletins and at special times during the Mass itself. The goal is for everyone to better understand what is occurring and why it is so important and should be honored. As you grow to appreciate what God is doing here, we hope to see more of our parishioners arriving on time and staying until the end. This is a celebration we have been invited to by Jesus Christ who Himself provides us our saving meal. We owe Him the respect to be present at the entire Mass which begins with the procession and ends with the priest withdrawing from the church in the recessional. The priest stands "in persona Christi", representing Christ at the altar. We should not leave before our host. While circumstances may dictate that sometimes we must cut a Mass short, this should be a rarity. It is especially important to remain respectful while the Body and Blood of Christ are being given out or are on the altar.

Together let us learn of the gift we have here and seek to dwell in the presence of our God. This should not be a place we are in a hurry to leave. All are invited to remain after Mass to pray while the parking lot clears. Many like to come in early for the same reason. We have coffee and doughnuts after the 9:00 a.m. Mass and the end of each Mass is a great time to connect with fellow parishioners. If we treat the Mass with the respect it deserves, we will come to love what God has done for us and will be in no hurry to be absent from His presence in this holy place. This is the Kingdom of God on earth. Until the end of time it is in the Church that this Kingdom is found. We are that Church. We are His people, holy prophetic and priestly, the Body of Christ on earth. How blessed we are!

Father Steven Foppiano, Pastor

Twenty-Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

Jesus tells the crowd that only those who renounce all of their possessions can be His disciples.

Is He truly asking us to give up everything? Perhaps instead He is trying to help us see that everything we think we own is really a gift from God. Good stewards know that and strive to use those gifts accountably.
